

“Performing autopsies on disasters such as “Cleopatra,” “Ishtar,” and “Waterworld” is not only instructive, but intensely pleasurable It is at its best when it exposes . . . the horrendous miscalculations of people who get paid for making decisions.”

-The Wall Street Journal

“A film hit or miss often forms two sides of the same coin, notes veteran entertainment observer Parish in this gleefully readable, well-researched study of hubris in Hollywood.” read more
